Note: All grants have limitations as to what they can or cannot be used for and a time period, often three years, over which to be spent. The money for projects and equipment must not be needed to operate but instead, to make enhancements to the overall mission. All grants require a budget to be submitted for federal approval before awarded or spent. Quarterly progress reports and financial reports must be submitted to ensure that the money is being spent as approved and within a timeline that shows the progress for each expenditure or project approved.
