

STATE OF MAINE
ONE HUNDRED AND NINETEENTH LEGISLATURE
FIRST REGULAR SESSION
JOURNAL OF THE SENATE

In Senate Chamber
Tuesday
February 15, 2000

Senate called to order by President Mark W. Lawrence of York County.

Prayer by Reverend Jack Fles of Christ Episcopal Church in Gardiner.

REVEREND FLES: The letter did say, and I thank you for the letter from the Office of the Senate and Sharon in particular, that I could make a few brief comments but they had to be non-partisan, non-political and not particularly religious. So that now that I have you standing, I figured who else but a religious man or a politician could make a pointed powerful speech and say, well, not nothing. So just a personal reflection then, however. I came from the lesser State of Texas some years ago, to the great State of Maine. While I was in Texas, I served on a community religious association of clergy, interdenominational, interfaith, and what we did there, our guidance there, was a decision of the group was never to pray in a way that would betray or portray your convictions. The very things you believed in. So we always ended in a very general way in the name of God. And I did that, and yet I thought what we truly have is a pluralistic society. All sorts of different faiths, all sorts of different persuasions. People without faith who want nothing to do with that, but there are and there is a variety and the faith can play an important role in our development. If you remember the argument between the federalist and the anti-federalist paper with John J. Hamilton and Madison saying we need the checks and balances and the anti-federalists are saying let religion and morality play the role of guidance between the democratic extremes of capitalism and yet generosity and caring for others. Well, I happen to fall into the camp of Madison and Hamilton and I think it is our checks and balances and not religious values alone that dictate and guide us, because that can be a power block and unjust, as well as we all know. And yet I would ask you permission to pray as a Christian person, as an Episcopalian, in the faith that I adhere to. Not to persuade you, but to allow me to have those values that shape myself. And as we legislate, I'd like to invite you to come sailing one day with me, because maybe the boundaries will be extended out to a greater way offshore and we'll get past that line where we are no longer permitted to make a politically partisan or religious speech. Please call me in the summer months and we'll go out and we'll talk, but we'll not pray. Almighty and gracious Father, we give You thanks for the fruits of the earth and their season and for the labors of those who harvest them. Make us, we pray, faithful servants of Your great bounty for the provision of our necessities and the relief of those who are in need. To the glory of Your name, through Jesus Christ our Lord, I pray who lives and reigns with You and the Holy Spirit. One God now and forever. Amen and thank you.

Pledge of Allegiance led by Senator Georgette Berube of Androscoggin County.

Doctor of the day, Mark Bolduc, M.D., Auburn.

Reading of the Journal of Tuesday, February 8, 2000.

THE PRESIDENT: Senators should have received a letter from the Commission on Governmental Ethics and Election Practices regarding your statement of specific sources of income. In that letter the Ethics Commission indicated the Ethics Commission was adopting a policy of not fining members if they did not file by the 15th of February because of the lateness in which the Ethics Commission sent out the report. I would just remind Members that you will be in violation of State law if you do not file today. You will still be in violation of State law if you do not file today. The Ethics Commission does not have the ability to waive State law. They're simply saying that they simply will not punish you for being in violation. So my strong suggestion is you get your statement of specific sources of income filed with the Ethics Commission by 5pm today. If you do not have a form with you here at the State House, see the Secretary and she can arrange to get you one. If you have any questions just see someone in my office.

Honorable Mark W. Lawrence
President of the Senate
Honorable G. Steven Rowe
Speaker of the House of Representatives
119th Maine Legislature
Augusta, Maine 04333-0003

Dear President Lawrence and Speaker Rowe:

Pursuant to the Government Evaluation Act, Maine Revised Statutes, Title 3, chapter 35, we submit the findings and recommendations of the Joint Standing Committee on Utilities and Energy with respect to the Public Utilities Commission.

The committee has concluded that the PUC is operating in accordance with its statutory authority. We are satisfied that the PUC is conducting its work in accordance with its duties under the law and believe the PUC is doing a good job fulfilling its statutory mandate.

We conclude that the PUC should, in the development and monitoring of competitive utility markets, continue to pay particular attention to issues related to the rural nature of the State. We believe the commission should also continue its efforts and assign adequate staff to promote Maine's interests before regional entities and federal agencies with jurisdiction over markets that extend beyond Maine's borders but which affect Maine consumers. We recommend that the commission submit annual reports to this committee on these matters. Pursuant to Title 3, section 954, we submit with our report legislation that would implement these recommendations.

Sincerely,

They are here today with their Coach, Diana Walker, and they are the guests of the Senator from York, Senator MacKinnon. Will they all please rise and receive the greetings of the Senate. The Chair recognizes the Senator from York, Senator MacKinnon.

Senator MACKINNON: Thank you President Lawrence. Members of the Senate, it gives me a great deal of pleasure to be able to introduce and to warmly welcome the 1999 Class A, State Champion Field Hockey Team from Sanford. I would also like to especially thank Coach Diana Walker who I believe is the best coach in the State of Maine, male or females, as far as working with her participants. We have certainly watched, cheered and cried over the years as we've lost to South Portland on many occasions trying to reach for that gold ball but this year, through the efforts of her team being well coached, it gave us great pleasure to sit there and watch and to make sure that we finally received that gold ball. As we go into the next millennium I'm sure there will be more to come. I would really like you people to know that I can remember the first day walking on the field with a principal evaluating and meeting Coach Walker the first time and we immediately knew that day that she certainly had the fire, the coaching ability and certainly the dedication to bring this forth and since that time she has worked to bring that and hopefully she will continue to do that, and for that I am very thankful as a former colleague, former coach with her, former building administrator, athletic director and hopefully friend. Thank you very much and congratulations team and Coach Walker.

THE PRESIDENT: The Chair would let everybody know you are having distributed to you today, again, the Maine Kids Count. This is the millennium data book, the year 2000 data book. And, as usual, they have done a great job of preparing statistics on the welfare of children around the State broken down by county and it should be in your mail slots now. I'd urge you to take a good look at it. It's a tremendous resource for all of us in decision making here in the State to go through this and understand what is really impacting kids in Maine. I'd also give a little plug for a constituent of mine, Moot Graziano from the Coastal Ridge Elementary School. He's the one who drew the picture on the front of the book this year. So please enjoy the book and use it in for good use in considering legislation during this legislative session. WE, your Memorialists, the Members of the One Hundred and Nineteenth Legislature of the State of Maine now assembled in the Second Regular Session, most respectfully present and petition the United States Secretary of Defense and the United States Secretary of the Navy as follows:

WHEREAS, the Naval Computer and Telecommunications Station located in the Town of Cutler, referred to in this Joint Resolution as the "NCTS," is vital to our national defense as the NCTS handles all Very Low Frequency and High Frequency shore-to-ship, submarine and airplane communications in the North Atlantic theater; and

THE PRESIDENT: The Chair recognizes the Senator from Penobscot, Senator Mills.

Senator MILLS: Mr. President, this is a Bill that I sponsored and wrote and I join in the Majority view of the Committee that this Bill ought not to pass. I join with, indeed, the Education Committee that voted unanimously that this Bill ought not to pass. And I do so for reasons I'd like to state just very briefly on the record. The Bill was written in response to certain complaints that I received from people in the education profession who brought to my attention that the law regarding educational policies as it governs school boards is a very difficult law to live with, difficult law to abide by. The Legislature, in enacting the law about thirty years ago, dealt with this issue in the following way. The issue is, just till we get started on it, how do you deal with matters of educational policy in the context of collective bargaining negotiations. In other words, can one school board bind another by means of a collective bargaining contract in which matters of educational policy might be embedded in the terms and conditions of that contract? Because we are dealing with the wages, the hours and the working conditions of the education profession, it is almost inevitable that a bargaining agreement on that subject will have strong implications for educational policy. Indeed, those conditions that those provisions will incorporate key elements of educational policy. The implementation of learning results, for example, and other matters that are important. The law as I understand it, and it is very difficult to understand, is that the ultimate authority for defining educational policy never leaves the elected officials that serve on the school board. That the school board always has power to change its mind politically. That the educational policies that it may wish to implement are within the jurisdiction that they are elected to. But when they change their mind on an educational policy, they must, at least, consult with the educational bargaining unit on any matters that may affect things like wages and hours and working conditions, and must make, and the law is written, in such a way, that the school board is required to grapple with the local concerns of teachers and other educators. But the ultimate power always resides with the school board. This concept was recently reaffirmed in a law court decision that came down about a year and a half ago. And I think in response to that case, there were some school board members in some school districts who took it into their heads to say, well we can use this power that we have to abrogate solemn promises that we've made, or that our predecessors on the school board have made, to the bargaining unit here in town. And we can, in essence, break our promises, if we so choose, if those promises were made on a matter that touches or concerns educational policy. And in some instances that I heard about, such promises were broken or there was a threat of breaking such promises in the middle of a contract term, under circumstances where it was being done more for purposes of flexing political muscle on the local scene than for purposes of enhancing the local educational environment. So I wrote a Bill that simply said if you've made a contract or a promise that touches on educational policy and it is embedded in the contract, then it exists and it is valid and remains effective for the duration of the contract and you may change it only after the contract has expired. Some people refer to it as a sort of consenting adult provision. It would have changed Maine's law. It would have made it impossible or difficult for a school board to change matters of educational policy in the middle of a contract term and it would have got rid of the abuse that I perceived was going on, in some cases, in some school districts. I've been persuaded by the Education Committee, a very intelligent lobbyist, and the other members of the Labor Committee that my notion was probably ill conceived and that it came down on the wrong side of a very difficult issue. It doesn't. It is probably essential, I'm persuaded, that school boards retain, ultimately, the power to change their minds on essentials of school policy. But I concede that only by saying that it's the power, in my view, that ought to be exercised only in the extraordinary case, and under extreme conditions. When school boards make promises, they ought to bend over backward to keep them because so much is invested in that negotiative process. If they have that power, and if they are to be entrusted with that power by this Legislature, the power to change contracts based on the change in educational policy, it is a power to be exercised only in the extreme or unusual case and very very rarely. And having said that, Mr. President, I join in the motion Ought Not to Pass.
