

STATE OF MAINE
ONE HUNDRED AND TWENTY-SEVENTH LEGISLATURE
FIRST REGULAR SESSION
JOURNAL OF THE SENATE

In Senate Chamber
Monday
June 1, 2015

Senate called to order by President Michael D. Thibodeau of Waldo County.

Prayer by Pastor Frank Gleason IV, CenterPoint Community Church in Anson.

PASTOR GLEASON: Thank you, Mr. President. Mr. President,
Madame Clerk, ladies and gentlemen of the Senate, let us pray.
Gracious God, as we begin the month of June and the push to adjournment I pray that humility, meekness, compassion, and long suffering would be evident in our conduct. May we avoid anger and harsh judgment, yet exhibit the more positive virtue of active devotion to the welfare and interests of all. May we, like Christ, embrace self-sacrifice. May our faith abound in hope and our hope be filled with love. God, I ask You to feed these Senators on Your wisdom and Your understanding for their good and the good of all they serve. Let them recognize and take the authority that is theirs to take. Thank you, God, for guiding them every step of the way. In the name of Jesus Christ I pray. Amen.

Pledge of Allegiance led by Senator Ronald F. Collins of York County.

Reading of the Journal of Friday, May 29, 2015.

Doctor of the day, Senator Geoffrey M. Gratwick, MD of Penobscot County.

(In Senate, April 28, 2015, Reports READ.)

Senator WHITTEMORE of Somerset moved the Senate ACCEPT the Minority OUGHT NOT TO PASS Report, in NON-CONCURRENCE.

THE PRESIDENT: The Chair recognizes the Senator from Cumberland, Senator Breen.

Senator BREEN: Thank you, Mr. President. I had the privilege of sitting on my local town council for six years. During that time I worked hard on thoughtful, responsible, long-term land use planning. That included evaluating comprehensive plans, the instruments the towns used to guide their land use, growth areas, commercial districts zoning programs, and local ordinances. Comprehensive plans used to be mandated and funded by the Maine State Planning Office. When the funding for these plans was revoked so was the mandate to conduct them and to keep them updated roughly every ten years, but they remain valuable to the communities who undertake them because they bring stakeholders together in a thoughtful, informed way to consider and recommend the best ways for the town to handle future changes and development. During my last year on the town council the Federal Emergency Management Agency, FEMA, and the Army Corps of Engineers made a presentation to the town council on the changes along our shoreline in Casco Bay. Using a variety of tools and images, they showed, in startling terms, that some parts of the town shoreline had receded by more than 40 feet. That is to say 40 feet of land along the coast that was there in 1960 were now under water. Water was encroaching not only on private properties along the stretch of Casco Bay but on a public road and on public water and sewer infrastructure. The cost to remediate could be in the tens of millions of dollars. How property owners and tax payers were to pay for the mediation is, needless to say, extremely contentious and could result in significant property tax increases as well as litigation. The primary cause of the sea level rise, according to FEMA and the Army Corps, is wave action. This busy stretch of Casco Bay, which accommodates both commercial fishing vessels and recreational boats, generates enough wave action to erode our shoreline 40 feet over 60 years. If you believe in climate change, as I do, this is only going to get worse. Even if you don't believe that climate change will cause a rise in sea levels, you can acknowledge that boat traffic of all kinds will generate wave action and that wave action will cause erosion. Sea levels are rising no matter the cause. For the sake of Maine taxpayers, it's vitally important that cities and towns take long-range changes along their shorelines into account, no matter the cause.

However, we are a home rule state. This bill, as it is amended, encourages municipalities, without mandating anything. It alerts, it educates, it promotes. Hopefully, it will help lawmakers in coastal towns and cities, major economic drivers for our state, avoid enormous future tax bills in protecting, moving, or remediating publicly funded infrastructure. For the sake of all Maine taxpayers, I urge you to vote against the Minority Report. Thank you.

THE PRESIDENT: The Chair recognizes the Senator from Cumberland, Senator Alfond.

Senator ALFOND: Thank you, Mr. President. Ladies and gentlemen of the Senate, for those of you that live on the coast I think it's a pretty simple question in front of you. Do we want to plan? Do we want to strategically think about our long-term future? Do we want to make sure that our communities voluntarily, not coming from the State or coming from our federal government, have the opportunity to make sure that we are thinking about our future. There are a lot of us that are from coastal communities. In fact, I look around the room and most of us have some sort of coastline on or in our Senate district. If you don't then you probably appreciate the coast. You appreciate going to the coast. If you're not then I'm going to add one more caveat: you probably know someone, of the 30 million people that come into our state, that comes into our state to enjoy our coast. I hope that this is something that we all can support and I urge you all to reject the motion on the Floor.

THE PRESIDENT: The Chair recognizes the Senator from Androscoggin, Senator Libby.

Senator LIBBY: Thank you, Mr. President. Men and women of the Senate, I rise in opposition to the pending motion. This legislation is a no brainer. This legislation, that I would ask you to vote in favor of once we defeat this motion, would simply suggest that municipalities along the Maine coastline prepare for these kinds of real changes that are happening. Sea level rise is not disputed. Sea level rise is occurring. State statute has a number of provisions that guide municipalities in their comprehensive planning. As was stated earlier, comprehensive planning is no longer a requirement, but municipalities across Maine do engage in comprehensive planning because of significant benefits to towns and cities. Again, this legislation is not a mandate. It is a recommendation that municipalities along the Maine coast take sea level rise into consideration in making their future plans. This legislation has received the endorsement of the Maine Municipal Association, which is a high hurdle to overcome. The bill had no opposition in the public hearing. Many spoke in favor. Dr. Robert Marvinney, State geologist from the Maine Geological Survey, provided a wealth of information documenting sea level rise and the challenges that coastal municipalities face in dealing with an issue that is before us today. With that I thank you very much, Mr. President, for the time and I request a roll call.

On motion by Senator LIBBY of Androscoggin, supported by a Division of one-fifth of the members present and voting, a Roll Call was ordered.

THE PRESIDENT: The Chair recognizes the Senator from Lincoln, Senator Johnson.

Senator JOHNSON: Thank you, Mr. President. Ladies and gentlemen of the Senate, I want to make a couple of points here and talk about how, in my own experiences in Lincoln County, this is really something that coastal towns should be involved in. First of all, I want to point out that if we defeat this motion we can continue to consider the bill which, as amended, does not mandate anything. In fact the specific wording is "may include in its comprehensive plan" and subsequently encourages the assessment of and planning for sea level rise. It is not a mandate. In terms of what this means to coastal communities, the example I have is from the work of the Lincoln County Regional Planning Commission and the Lincoln County Planner, Robert Faunce, of that group worked with many communities in Lincoln County. It is actually somewhat of a model of how LIDAR mapping and the inundation of our coastal zone can be useful and be applied effectively in figuring out what it means to communities and help them with this planning. It was through that work that it came to the attention of Damariscotta, who previously was unaware, that their downtown area, including the foundations of many of the historic buildings in that region and homes to small businesses along Main Street and some of the roadways, would be inundated in the downtown area of Damariscotta. That town is now working with engineering consulting groups on ways that they can mitigate that and have considered as a municipality and vote of the town's people which of those plans to move forward with because it actually is a matter of, given what the new maps are for the flooding that can occur, a matter of saving those downtown businesses, not only the condition of their buildings but saving them a significant amount of money on flood insurance, if they can put these measures in place to protect the properties from inundation. I submit to you that this is a very responsible and necessary thing for our coastal towns to at least plan for, identify what is at risk, and what to do about it not only for the protection of the character and quality of their towns and avoid significant costs from damages, but also to protect the interests of businesses in those towns from the flood insurance costs, just trying to continue to operate in those circumstances, absent of plan. I urge your opposition to the pending motion and join with me in doing a very reasonable step to help communities be aware of and undertake, should they desire to do so, this kind of planning to protect their own communities. Thank you, Mr. President.

THE PRESIDENT: The Chair recognizes the Senator from Penobscot, Senator Gratwick.

Senator GRATWICK: Thank you very much, Mr. President. Ladies and gentlemen of the Senate, just going to rise briefly and add to what's been said. I assure you this is a very important bill for Bangor. I'm sure you are aware that Bangor is at the first fall. You can bring schooners up there for lumber but no further because of the dam right above the city. Floods have been a major problem ongoing over time in Bangor. This spring, for instance, increasing water levels. The ice breakers were out there. It was really a remarkable sight. A wonderful dance as they went up over the ice, crushed it, and back. It took them at least probably a day and a half to fully get up the river and open up the river. The City of Bangor slowly planning. The new federal building that is there is up on stilts. It's high on the bank. Banks are there, basically, get flooded. This becomes a very important aspect of civic planning for the third largest city and I urge you all to support this bill. Thank you.

THE PRESIDENT: The Chair recognizes the Senator from Knox, Senator Miramant.

Senator MIRAMANT: Thank you, Mr. President. Men and women of the Senate, only piece that hasn't been mentioned. In the Marine Resources Committee we've had a lot of talk weekly about sea level rise. While it may be slow, in Florida that's almost the canary in the coal mine. They've only got 30 or 40 years before insurance companies aren't going to insure their businesses any more, let alone flood insurance, unless they start planning. That's an economic development issue. We're a little behind them, but one thing that opened my eyes was the introduction of the LIDAR. It's light detection and ranging. They've been using satellites now for better mapping of what the storms are having for an effect on our coast. It's more than we thought. This planning would really help the coastal communities, as well as some inland ones I realize. Please consider that as you vote. Thank you.

THE PRESIDENT: The pending question before the Senate is the motion by the Senator from Somerset, Senator Whittemore, to Accept the Minority Ought Not to Pass Report, in Non-concurrence. A Roll Call has been ordered. Is the Senate ready for the question?
