Formerly known as Plantation Number 1, the town was incorporated on February 12, 1818 and named for Commodore Oliver Hazard Perry, hero of the Battle of Lake Erie during the War of 1812. Its naming was a stark message to the British who at that time still occupied the neighboring community of Eastport. Located on the 45th parallel halfway between the Equator and the North Pole, Perry hosts the oldest 45th parallel marker in the United States. At its founding, Perry possessed rich lumber resources and has also been productive in shipbuilding, the sardine industry and weir fishing. Known for its beautiful shoreline on Passamaquoddy Bay and Cobscook Bay, Perry is also home to Boyden Lake, the easternmost lake in the United States. We extend to the citizens of the Town of Perry our congratulations on the town's Bicentennial;
